DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Cherry Hill Store is a three part structure. Two of the sections are frame and one is built of brick. The original store is frame with clapboard siding three bays long by two deep. It is two stories in height with an attic. In the west gable is an inside end chimney built of brick. The entrance is in the south west bay of the facade. The floor is board and batten with rose head nails and slender strap hinges. On the exterior the door has louvered shutters. Much of the interior has been altered. The attic has one section that has a divider with a cage like window. The store has a stone foundation and a cellar.

The central part of the structure is frame and is roughly two bays square. There is a brick chimney between it and the store. It also is two stories in height. This part was probably built to connect the store with the brick dwelling.

The brick dwelling is the eastern most section of the store complex. It is two stories in height with a side bay entrance with a three light transom. This house has a gable roof with a brick chimney in the east gable wall. The house is three bays across by two deep. It has a stone foundation and a cellar. The window sash on the second floor are 6/6 those on the first are covered by paneled shutters. The brick is laid in common bond.

Running across the front of all three of these buildings is a one story front porch. All have turned support posts. The center section has scroll brackets.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This complex of structures served as both residences and as a lucrative business for its owners. The store dates back to the early 1800's. Some features suggest a late 1700 date. The buildings need more research and an interior description of the brick and central section.

The door and attic section are worthy of preservation. The cell is particularly unique.
